Council on Technology Teacher Education

From The President

"Experience is the worst teacher. It always gives the test first and the lesson afterward."

A simple Google search attributes that statement to Vernon Sanders Law, a former major league baseball player who won the Cy Young award in 1960. So, I can't claim the quote, but I can assure you that it applies to my term as president.

My past three years have included un-charted scenarios for this Council. No planning, or mentoring, or magic wand could have foreseen the issues that CTTE faces this spring. Naturally, Council members will be dealing with these challenges during the 2010 conference in Charlotte this week. On the positive side, this will be an exciting conference as we forge ahead. My observations plus the collective experiences of many of you will help us shape the future of the Council (and improve the profession).

I hope all of you have your bags packed to assist with the positioning of the technology education and engineering education sectors!

Richard D. Seymour
2007-2010 CTTE President
